

Detroit

DETROIT FREE PRESS/SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1981

This is Hudson's fashion director Brenda Rosenberg relaxing at home with her husband, Howard. Her supporters call her "immensely talented"; her detractors call her "part-princess/part-piranha." Her job is to decide what middle-class Detroit is going to wear.
